

Honor Guard Residential Business Services

Mission Statement

Stated clearly, as a non-profit 501 (c) (3) corporation of independent volunteers from all over the United States, our most fundamental service ethic in this regard entails volunteering in and from our own communities under the banner HGRBS.

In other words, we are an open association for concerned people across America working together volunteering our time towards informing, inspiring, and guiding legitimate private home decision makers and those with related aspirations towards making safer and better home maintenance and improvement decisions.

To these ends, each of us draws from his/her own resources exercising individual support prerogative to invest in facilitating the mission of this network in our own vicinities, foremost.

We realize that, on the overall, from the newest volunteer community advocates to the oldest and highest ranking elected officials, that our residents lose hundreds, thousands, hundreds of thousands, and millions of dollars per household on bad home maintenance and improvement decisions.

We also understand that each of us, as American citizens, has a role to play in supporting the intents and efforts of our government towards the comforts and conveniences of the private home setting. Therefore, we acknowledge, respect, and honor our government's concern and related activity, from state to state and collectively, being one nation under God.

Finally, we have concluded that in order to help our government do more for our people against making costly, ill-timed home maintenance and improvement decisions in our country(at times being blindly defrauded by dishonest people), we must do more as citizens to voice our concerns...not only by our words....but by our actions. To this end, we speak and act.

R.B. Roberts,
National Spokesman
HGRBS